Description

At the kickoff meeting we agreed on what screens need to be redesigned at this time. Deliverables are:

- First mockups of screens in question:
 - Home
 - Check-in
 - History

Previously a comprehensive user research was conducted which needs to be taken in account when designing the new user interactions on all new screens.

Dalia Lens, you have way more experience in Android user interface design, can you give me your first impression about these wireframes, please? This is a first iteration and I'm just looking for some general thought this time, no details.

Hey Casey Ford, nice work so far! I think the accessing the friends list is too hidden, should be more in the forefront. Sharing also a bit complicated and takes at least 4-5 clicks. For an app like this it's critical, so I would put some more thought in that as well.

Valid points, thanks. I'll make some changes and ping you again!
